INTERSECTIONAL PERSPECTIVES ON DIGITAL CULTURE AND TECHNOLOGY

Winter 2023 / Digital 610
Apryl Williams
T/TH 8:30 - 10:00 am

Please email Sarah Torsch (dsi-studentservices@umich.edu) with any questions.

This course requires previous engagement with intersectional feminist theory and critical race theory as we will collectively work to map and expand these foundational ideologies to existing and emerging issues in digital and algorithmic culture. Together we will question how digital technologies limit or enhance agency; how algorithmic culture influences our perceptions of each other; and how digital media influence popular culture narratives on race, gender, class, sexuality, and other identity categories.